- This volume is the first of three large format republications which provide a collection of the accomplished architect's drawings and photographs.
- This first volume, which focuses on his country houses, includes hundreds of measured drawings from Lutyens's office of their built work as well as professionally retouched photography from Country Life. Forthcoming volumes will feature his corporate and public buildings.
- Containing hundreds of intricate plans and gorgeous photographs, this extraordinary text highlights Lutyens's uniquely keen creative eye.
- Lutyens's genius is on full display; both his professionalism and the loving detail in his plans make this volume one of the few books that can be utilized as a source for working drawings.
