Faith Primozic is an architectural designer based in Washington, DC. She received her bachelor's degree from the University of Notre Dame in 2022 as Valedictorian of the undergraduate School of Architecture. She has since carried on a great appreciation for traditional, human-centric design as well as a love of architectural hand rendering and watercolor and in the work she does.

Now at David M. Schwarz Architects, Faith has enjoyed working on many project types including performing arts venues, multifamily residential, urban design, and hospitality. She finds joy in using her art to represent ideas and communicate architectural visions in a variety of media as part of the design process. Faith's love of art extends into her personal life as well, and she often spends weekends sketching or working on illustration projects in the warm company of her lovely cat, Beau.
